TAKE OLD PHONES OUT IS EDICT OF CITY'S COUNCIL

Lower Board Adopts Measure of Retaliation Against East Tennessee.

Police and Fire Stations to Use Home Exclusively.

WILL USE MONEY DECLINED

Tired of litigation with the East Tennessee Telephone company, which is operating under an old grant and refuses to accept such a franchise as the city of Paducah is willing to offer, conforming in terms to that granted the Home company, the lower board of the general council last night took measures in retaliation, and it is said McCracken county will follow suit.

All the East Tennessee telephones were ordered out of the public offices, including the mayor's, auditor's, street inspector's, police judge's and city engineer's offices, the post house, hospital, lighting plant and police and fire departments. Policemen and firemen and other city employees keep in touch with their headquarters by telephone and to reach them they will be compelled to use the Home system, as will the public in turning in alarms.

There was a plan on foot for a meeting of merchants to take similar action, but since the company has an injunction against the city, anything in the nature of a boycott will be avoided, the members of the general council considering that they have the right to discontinue the use of the East Tennessee system if they desire. The matter will be up to the aldermen Thursday night, and it is said, great influence is being brought to bear both ways on the members today to control their votes.

The resolution introduced last night was as follows:

"Whereas, The East Tennessee Telephone company, refuses to take a franchise, and submit to the laws governing like corporations in the city of Paducah, but persist in erecting poles and burying 'dead men' when and where they please;

"Therefore, be it resolved, That the mayor shall request their agent to remove their telephones from all public places belonging to the city, or have them discontinued with the city's public places.

"Be it further resolved, That the city solicitor be requested to return $3,286, or the exact amount tendered the East Tennessee Telephone company, which has been refused."

It was introduced by Councilman Al Young, who spoke in favor of it, as did Alderman W. T. Miller, while President H. R. Lindsey spoke against it. The vote was for the resolution, Councilmen Young, Foreman, Duvall, Lackey, Kreutzer, Ford and Bower. Those opposed were Councilmen Lindsey, Flournoy, Van Meter and Williams.

The $3,286 mentioned in the resolution was appropriated to the use of the city solicitor in making tender of the $3,000, with interest, paid by the East Tennessee Telephone company for a franchise, which was never accepted. He made tender and the company refused to accept it. Since then the money has lain in the bank without interest, while the city has Night Riders Visit Dycusburg in Crittenden County, Burn Down Two Buildings and Whip Tobacco Men.

Between 100 and 200 Men Ride From Eddyville, Cut Telephone Wires and Terrorize Citizens.

Night riders from the direction of Eddyville, numbering more than 100, masked and armed, entered Dycusburg this morning shortly after midnight, took possession of the village, burned the warehouse and still house of Bennett Bros., and severely whipped Henry Bennett and W. B. Groves, buyers for O'Brien & company, of Paducah, representatives of the French Regie. There were but 100 pounds of tobacco in the warehouse, and the still was not in operation. The loss will be about $2,000. Mr. Bennett is in a serious condition as the result of his whipping with heavy thorn sticks.

It is reported here that the night riders passed through Eddyville. They entered Dycusburg from the south. They left their horses under guard a short distance out and entered on foot. The telephone office was closed and there are no police. The people of the village had just returned from an entertainment, so the entrance of the advance guard of night riders was not noticed.

When the main body entered, firing commenced in every part of the village, and it is estimated that between 1,000 and 2,000 shots were fired.

The main body went first to the warehouses, while a delegation waited on Groves. He was conducted to the scene of the fire and unmercifully beaten with thorn sticks. He was in his night clothes. He was threatened with more severe punishment if he bought any more tobacco.

Fuillade of Shots. A fusillade of shots was fired through the home of Henry Bennett to apprise him of the presence of the night riders. He was dragged half dressed from the presence of his family and taken across the road, where he was beaten on the head and face and every part of his body.

Neither one of the victims had ever been warned before. The night riders who may have numbered 200, cut all the telephone wires into Dycusburg, and it was nearly noon before it could be reached. The first information came from Marion that 200 night riders had passed through Eddyville. Then came a report from Pinckneyville that a big fire was seen at Dycusburg. The town has been practically wiped out by fire twice within as many years. It is situated on the Cumberland river in the triangle of Crittenden formed by the Livingston and Lyon county lines.

A report from Eddyville says that about 75 night riders rode through the town from Dycusburg, going in the direction of Princeton at 3 o'clock this morning. They could have passed around Eddyville and undoubtedly did on their way to Dycusburg. It is believed they compose the same body that raided Hopkinsville and Princeton. Eddyville is 12 miles from Dycusburg.

A later story says that Mrs. Bennett followed her husband and attempted to defend him. The night riders have handled her roughly, and she received several blows from the clubs in their hands.

SELL CEMETERY SITE; PURCHASE SOMEWHERE ELSE

Sale of the new cemetery site, purchased three years ago from J. T. Potter, a mile and a half out on the Hinkleville road, is being advocated and last night at the meeting of the lower board of the general council, Chairman Ford, of the cemetery committee, reported that he, with other members of the committee, visited the site Sunday and because of its inaccessibility by reason of lack of street car facilities, they favor disposing of it and buying elsewhere. It is understood that Mayor Smith favors this plan.

The site is a beautiful one, and if a street car line reached it, no better could be selected. It is believed no trouble will be experienced in getting the original price, $6,010, for it, and possibly more.

The property was purchased from J. T. Potter in November, 1904, and Mr. Potter has been renting it from the city since then.

The sale of this property probably would be followed immediately by the purchase of some other site for a colored cemetery, as the colored section of Oak Grove is overcrowded.

NO QUORUM PRESENT

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 4.—(Special) —Both the house and senate adjourned after five minutes today, ostensibly in memory of Goebel's birthday. The general opinion was that the house adjournment was to prevent action on the county unit bill. There was no quorum at the joint session.

CHARLES LEE HILL SURRENDERS TO COUNTY JAILER—SAYS IT WAS ACCIDENT

Slayer of Fannie Young, After Spending Night in Hiding, Returns and Tells How it Happened.

"Look me up, Mistah Eaker," was the exclamation that greeted James Eaker, county jailer, this morning, and as he looked up he saw Charles Lee Hill, colored, wanted for the murder of Fannie Young, standing before him. Jailer Eaker accommodated him, and Lee went back into his old love, with as much ease as a farm hand sits down to dinner. When seen this morning, Lee said the shooting was accidental, and that he did not try to escape, but stayed out last night, and thought it best to surrender. Lee says he and Fannie Young were in the room at 311 South Ninth street, and they were examining a pistol. The catch had been broken, and he had the pistol "broke" and with force he slammed the chambers in place, and there was an explosion. The woman screamed and Lee realized the woman had been shot. He says he was unconscious that the barrel of the gun was pointed toward the woman. After the shooting Lee told a doctor of the shooting.

Lee has been out of jail about a month. He was arrested on a charge of highway robbery, but escaped punishment, and was then indicted by the grand jury on a charge of gambling, and fined $20. Hill will be 20 years old next April. All the patrolmen have been keeping a lookout for Hill, and telephoned to Cairo this morning to the officials, but Hill walked into the jailer's office at the jail about 10 o'clock.

In Police Court.

Police court passed off like a flurry this morning, and the business was disposed of in short order. The docket was: Drunk—Henry Melber, 1. Joe Koontze, $1 and costs. Breach of peace—Cornelius and Dick Wadlington, $20 and costs each; Joe Murphy, $10 and costs. Flourishing a pistol—Jim Henderson, continued until Wednesday. Petit larceny—Luther Chambers, continued until Thursday. Embezzlement—H. E. Hubbard, continued until Thursday.

ARTHUR MURRAY IS TIPPED FOR PLACE ON SCHOOL BOARD

Well Known Contractor and Business Man From Fifth Ward.

Committee Assisted in Straightening Out Schools.

NEW PLANS FOR HIGH SCHOOL

Tonight's meeting of the school board will be an important one, and it is tipped that Mr. Arthur Murray, of South Seventh street, will be elected to succeed Trustee I. O. Walker, who refused to qualify. Mr. Murray is a well known contractor and a sound business man. The board will take up the matter of issuing bonds for the construction of the new buildings. All the members have expressed their sentiment as favoring it, but no official action has been taken towards that end. The question will be given a thorough discussion and all conditions will be taken into consideration.

Dr. C. G. Warner, of the Fourth ward, will resign tonight. Dr. Warner was dubious about allowing his name to go on the ballot and about serving after he was elected, because the nature of his business prevents his having time to attend meetings of the board or committees, or looking after school work; but he was persuaded to qualify, it being agreed, that if he could not devote the necessary time to the work no objections would be made to his resignation. Dr. Warner stated this morning that he is interested in the schools and would like to serve, but the only meeting he has had a chance to attend, he was called away from, and he realizes that he can not do what he feels would be his duty if he remained on the board.

High School Plans. In order to facilitate the work of the high school, Prof. W. H. Suggs, the principal, has recommended making the departments more independent. All complaints or questions of the students about the certain subjects will be referred to the head of that department instead of to the principal direct.

The following will be the heads of the departments: Mathematics, Miss Adah L. Brazelton; Latin, Miss Marian P. Noble; languages, Miss Sue E. Smith; English, Miss Ernestine Alms; science, Prof. C. H. Shrieves; history and civics, Prof. Suggs and Prof. C. O. Peratt.

A copy of the work intended to be covered during the year will be handed to the principal. Each department assistant will refer all questions to the head of the department, and in this way the work in each department may be regulated.

All books used in the classes shall be ordered through the heads of the departments, and an outline of the work intended to be covered the next two weeks will be handed in and kept for reference. A detailed outline of the course of study will be given to the principal by the departments. An annual report will be required from each department, and recommendations must be written in the report, which will be published in the annual catalogue of the school in June. The number of pupils in the department during the year, the promotions and progress will be interesting data.

All the principals of the buildings and Trustee W. J. Hills and Trustee C. G. Kelly, secretary of the board, held a meeting yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock and relieved the crowded condition of some of the buildings. An average of 35 pupils was placed in each room, but in some grades this number is too small. Pupils were sent to the next nearest school, and the boundary lines were not obeyed in relieving the teachers so that the best work may be accomplished. The principals made reports, as to the schools, and the attendance was regulated so that it is in a much better condition.

Sessions have started off well at the "Whittier" and the "Longfellow" buildings and there was little confusion. About 140 pupils reported at the "Whittier" and today the casual observer could not distinguish it from an old school in quality of work.

Yankee Naval Strength in East Will be Equal to That of Japan as Soon as Reinforcements Arrive.

Plan of Department to Leave Several Battleships in Philippine Waters to be Augmented Later.

Washington, Feb. 4.—The government is assembling and preparing for dispatching to the Philippine Islands a battleship squadron which shall be supplemented by a portion of Admiral Evans' fleet to be left here.

It became known today authoritatively that the administration plans for Evans' fleet to return by way of the Suez canal, but by the time Evans is ready to weigh anchor in the Philippine Islands, his fleet will have been supplemented by six battleships and two armored cruisers. It is the plan of the navy board to divide the Evans' fleet in two parts after its arrival in the Philippine Islands. The first two squadrons will proceed homeward late this year or early next by the Suez canal, leaving the eight battleships of the last two divisions as a rear guard. These eight battleships supplemented by the six which will have arrived, will make fourteen battleships in the far East. Japan has only fourteen battleships all together. By the time the two rear divisions of Rear Admiral Evans' fleet are ready to come additional ships of equal power will have gone to the far East to replace them.

Inasmuch as all statistics as to strength, on paper, are figured from battleships, it will be seen that the United States will have in the Philippine Islands a battleship squadron which, man for man, ship for ship, ton for ton, and in weight of metal thrown, will be the equal or slightly superior to Japan.

The government believes that in efficiency, men and marksmanship the United States is the superior of any fleet afloat in the world, and to have a fleet in strength equal to that of any power with a naval base in the Pacific leaves the balance of power on the side of the United States.

The present plan is to make the battleship Nebraska, now on the Pacific coast, a flagship. She is a new and magnificent vessel. The repairs to the Oregon and Wisconsin, both on the Pacific coast, are to be rushed. The Idaho, which is about completed, will be rushed to the Pacific by midsummer. These four vessels will be supplemented before the end of the year by the Mississippi, now completed, and the New Hampshire, practically completed.

This squadron of battleships will be re-enforced by the armored cruisers North Carolina and Montana. There will be the usual auxiliary detail of torpedo boats, destroyers and colliers.

Assuming that the third and fourth divisions of Admiral Evans' fleet are the vessels designated to remain in the far East the government would have when Admiral Evans starts for home with his first two divisions, the following strength in the Pacific:

Nebraska, flagship; Idaho, Oregon, Wisconsin, Mississippi, New Hampshire.

Third and fourth divisions of Admiral Evans' fleet to remain behind are: Minnesota, Ohio, Maine, Missouri, Alabama, Illinois, Kentucky and Kearsarge.

It is the plan of the navy board to have the eight ships in the third and fourth divisions of Admiral Evans' fleet remain in the far East for possibly eighteen months. By that time the United States government will have either finished or nearly finished the following vessels: Indiana, being modernized; Massachusetts, being modernized; Iowa, being repaired; South Carolina, building; Michigan, building the two great Dreadnaughts, the Delaware and North Dakota. These, in navy statistics, are considered the equal of three ordinary battleships each as that they alone, when completed, will be practically equal to the rear guard to be left behind by the Evans' fleet.

HIS JAW BROKEN

While prizing up a car in the car repairing department at the railroad shops this morning, W. H. Bowland was seriously hurt by the "jack" tripping, the lever striking him on the lower jaw, which was broken. Mr. Bowland is 37 years old and has a family living on Kincaid avenue.

CHICAGO POLICE WANT ANARCHISTS DRIVEN FROM CITY

Chicago, Feb. 4.—Chief of Police Shippy conferred today with Corporation Counsel Brunage on ways and means to stamp out the colony of anarchists in Chicago. Shippy declares anarchist talk in recent events duplicates the preliminaries to the Haymarket riot. Shippy has ten veteran detectives looking after the anarchists. He reports that 50 well known anarchists live here.

OLD COUNTY BOND FILED BY GOVERNOR BUCKNER IS REPUDIATED AS BAD ONE

Does Not Conform to Requirements and is Recorded as Paid.

A McCracken county bond bearing date of March 1, 1869, which was sent to the fiscal court today for payment by Gen. S. B. Buckner, who states that he bought the bond 30 years ago from a broker in Louisville, is probably a forgery or fell into the hands of the broker through some unlawful source, as a report of a committee appointed by Judge Lightfoot to investigate the matter shows that a bond of that issue which was for the advantage of the Elizabethtown and Paducah Railway company and bearing the number 325, which is the number of the one presented by Governor Buckner, was paid December 3, 1891. In addition to the record that bond 325 had been paid, the bond bears evidence of fraud on the face, as under the law, as shown by the county judge, bonds issued under the old constitution of the state should have been numbered in the handwriting of the county judge and the bond presented is clearly numbered by some other than Judge T. A. Flournoy, whose signature is attached to the bond.

It is the opinion of Judge Lightfoot that the bond was signed by the officials, but was not needed to complete the issue and through inadvertence of some official got into the hands of a broker. After discussing the matter at length the court concurred in the report of the committee that the bond had been paid.

No Extra Pay.

The court refused to allow a bill presented by Dr. Young, the county physician, for trips made several miles into the country, it being the unanimous opinion of the members present that it is clearly the duty of the physician to attend all sick calls without extra charge, being paid a salary by the court to look after charity patients. The physician was instructed not to make any calls unless ordered so to do by the county judge.

Return Iron.

The court voted to sustain Judge Lightfoot in recovering scrip iron that had been carried away by the electrical contractors, who installed the heat and light plant. The contractors carried the iron away, believing that it was theirs under the contract made with the court.

The following claims were allowed: Pauper Fund—R. C. Farthing, $32.74; McPherson Drug Co., $14.15; John Dougherty, $2; Broadfoot Bros., $20; E. P. Gilson, $27.70; Houser Bros., $16; Guy Nance, $12.50; Lang Bros., $14.15; U. G. Gullett, $25; U. S. Davis, $9.

County Levy.

Katterjohn & Dalbey, $12.30; Jake Biederman, $19.19; Broadfoot Bros., $1.90; L. W. Henneberger, $3.10; George O. Hart & Sons, $6.90; Lockwood & McMahon, $15; John W. Ogilvie, $25.25; Hank Bros., $3; R. G. Terrell, $4.30; East Tennessee Telephone Co., $8.79; Paducah Water Co., $51.18; J. W. Eaker, $22.20; F. F. Eaker, $101.

G. K. Katterjohn was allowed $1,219, the contract price for building the concrete wall around the county jail, while the bills of Katterjohn & Dalbey for a balance of $623.40, due on the contract price for installing the heat and light plant, was referred to the heat and light committee with power to act, as was also the claim of Ed Hannan for $129, and H. A. Patter for $206.92 for supplies furnished the contractors.

A bill of Jake Biederman for $86 for supplies furnished the jail and Military in Full Control in Lisbon Today.

TWO HUNDRED ARRESTS MADE

Lisbon, Feb. 4.—Many masses are being said for the souls of the late king and crown prince, whose bodies are now in the chapel of Necessidades palace. There is genuine mourning in the city. Republicans seek today to throw the responsibility for the deaths on the anarchists. The cortes will be reconvened as soon as peace is restored with certainty. But three of the ministers named yesterday for the new cabinet remain in office today. New men were chosen today to meet view of coalitionists.

Lisbon, via Frontier, Feb. 4.—More than 200 arrests have been made since Saturday night of persons suspected of complicity in the plot of assassination. The Pretender's Views.

Via Reggio, Feb. 4.—The Portuguese pretender, Don Miguel, who was here for a week before the tragedy at Lisbon, speaking of the situation in Portugal, according to private information, said that conditions in that country were much graver than official communication showed. Don Miguel, during his stay here, frequently declared that something serious would soon happen in Portugal. The pretender left here ostensibly on his way to Vienna several days ago.

Rumors of Disorder.

Paris, Feb. 4.—A paucity of advices from Lisbon continued up to 2:30 this morning and on account of the relentless censorship there was not means of determining the real condition of affairs in Portugal. The most striking dispatch was one from the Spanish frontier declaring that firing had been heard on Sunday night near the barracks in the western

COUNTY BILL IS LIKELY TO PASS BOTH BRANCHES

County Attorney Alben Frankley has received information from Frankfort that the bill, placing the county court house and other county buildings in the hands of the fiscal court, has passed the senate upon its first reading and in the opinion of McCracken county's representatives, will become a law. This is the bill which the committee from the fiscal court went to Frankfort to advocate.

A bill is also pending, which provides that the county shall pay for the provisions furnished jail prisoners, as cities do, but it is reported that the bill may not pass. The officers of the McCracken county fiscal court are opposed to the law.

UNDERWRITERS ACT

At a meeting of the board of fire underwriters today a petition was prepared to be presented to the board of aldermen, requesting them not to cut East Tennessee telephones out of the fire stations, as it might leave the city unprotected, in case anyone should wish to send in an alarm by the East Tennessee telephones.

Mr. T. J. Flynn went to Louisville today on a short trip.

Stomach Trouble Cured at Eighty

Mr. Zeno Thorp, of Hutchinson, Kansas, who is 80 Years Old, After Suffering Years from Stomach Trouble, Weak Heart and Poor Circulation, was Cured by Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey.

In a recent letter Mr. Thorp wrote:—"I have been suffering for the last five years from stomach trouble, weak heart and poor circulation of blood. I doctored with the best three doctors I could find during two years, but received no relief. I was advised very strongly not to use any whiskey, and for two years went without it, but found that I would have to go back to Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, which I had begun to use at the time I was doctoring. I have improved right along, and know that, taken in medicinal doses, such as you prescribe, it does me good. I am over eighty years of age, and shall use your tonic stimulant the rest of my life."

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

is an absolutely pure distillation of malted grain; great care being used to have every kernel thoroughly malted, thus destroying the germ and producing a predigested liquid food in the form of a malt essence, which is the most effective tonic stimulant and invigorator known to science; softened by warmth and moisture, its palatability and freedom from injurious substances render it so that it can be retained by the most sensitive stomach.

SHIP BURNS TO WATER'S EDGE

Fifteen of Crew Perish in Small Roat.

Thirty-seven Men of the Crew Were Rescued by White Star Liner
Cymric—Many Burned.

WHILE BLIZZARD WAS RAGING.

Halifax, N. S., Feb. 4.—In the midst of a wild blizzard Monday afternoon, the steamer St. Cuthbert burned to the water's edge off the Nova Scotia coast. Fifteen members of the crew drowned by the swamping of a small boat in which they attempted to leave the vessel after the fire had broken out.

The other thirty-seven members of the crew, including the captain, were rescued by the White Star Liner Cymric. After taking off the survivors the Cymric abandoned the burning steamer and proceeded to Boston. News of the destruction of the St. Cuthbert was received here last night in a wireless message from Captain Finch, of the Cymric.

The message read: "The St. Cuthbert was abandoned, a fire, Monday afternoon, off the Nova Scotia coast. The Cymric stood by for nine hours during a strong gale, heavy sea and snow squalls. A life boat in charge of the chief officer, making three perilous trips, rescued thirty-seven members of the crew including the captain. Several members of the crew were severely burned and injured.

"Fifteen of the crew were drowned in attempting to leave the vessel. Their boat was swamped by the heavy seas.

"The sea-cocks were left open on the St. Cuthbert, which will probably sink within twelve hours. It is now a dangerous derelict lying in the path of New York and European vessels."

Alleged That He Allowed Prisoner to Escape Who Was Arrested By Cairo Police.

Cairo, Ill., Feb. 4.—A sensational case was on trial yesterday all day in Judge Robinson's court. It is brought by Mound City parties against David Craig, who is charged with voluntarily releasing a prisoner in this county. Craig is an officer of Pulaski county and on January 6 came to Cairo to take charge of John Trout, who had been arrested by the Cairo police on request of Mound City authorities, on the charge of child abandonment. Craig came to Cairo, got his prisoner from the Cairo police and, it is charged, set him at liberty in Future City, Cairo's northern suburb.

When arrested Trout had a gold watch and $16 in cash, and it is charged that he bought his liberty from Craig. Trout was subsequently again arrested by the Cairo police on orders from Mound City.

GIRL NABS MATE ON POOR FARM

Missouri Miss Weds Member of "In Bad" Club.

Aurora, Mo., Feb. 4.—Perhaps the most unique leap year marriage recorded is that of Miss Johanna Thleme, of Howell county, who found her affinity at the poor farm near West Plains, and twenty-five minutes after she met him they were man and wife.

Young William Mitchell, temporarily embarrassed financially, had sought the refuge of the county charity institution. Miss Thleme visited the farm and at 6:45 p. m. met him. At 6:53 she proposed to him. At 7:10 the Rev. D. L. Sottlemeyer performed the ceremony.

Mrs. Mitchell is the owner of a fine farm.

EXAMINATION OF HARRY THAW

Held by State Dignity Official as to Condition.

Evelyn Visited Husband Yesterday and Will Stay at Fishkill a While.

HABEAS CORPUS PROCEEDINGS.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Feb. 4.—A brief examination and observation of the mental condition of Harry K. Thaw, now confined in Matteawan state hospital for criminal insane, was held by Dr. Allen W. Ferriss, president of the New York state lunacy commission, and Dr. Lamb, superintendent of the institution.

The examination was of a preliminary character. Thaw and the physicians talking casually together for about half an hour. After the examination, Dr. Ferriss said it was too early to give an opinion on Thaw's mental condition.

The examination was interrupted by the visit of Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw and Daniel O'Reilly, Thaw's counsel, who came up from New York. Mrs. Thaw appeared depressed over the situation in which her husband found himself among the insane.

Mrs. Thaw and the counsel spent over an hour with Thaw after which they visited various departments of the institution.

Allenists Evans and Jelliffe, retained by the Thaw family, held several conferences with Thaw during the day. It is believed here that unless Thaw is discharged through co-operation of the state authorities within a few weeks, habeas corpus proceedings will be instituted in the supreme court here.

That Mrs. Thaw does not expect the immediate discharge of her husband is indicated by her engagement for two weeks of a room in the hotel at Fishkill Landing, where she will be only a short distance away from Matteawan.

SOCIAL CONTENTMENT.

Said the barn-cat, grim, to the house-cat, prim,

"You are surely a useless thing; Do you really think that a cat was made

Just to sit by the fire and sing? In this busy world, with its rats and mice,

There is much for a cat to do, And each day for me has its work and play,

But the world can hold what for you?"

Said the house-cat, prim, to the barn-cat, grim,

"You are common, I fear, and low; There are cats, of course, in this neighborhood,

That the house-cat don't care to know. I have learned the art of a soul re- pose,

While I dream my philosophy; Oh, the world can hold for a common cat

Not one-half what it holds for me."

So the barn-cat, grim, and the house-cat, prim,

Came to live in a world apart. To be just to both, it must be confessed

That no malice was in their heart When they chanced to meet by the dooryard gate,

They exchanged a short, feline smile; But they never spoke, for each firmly felt

That the other was not worth the while.

FIFTY LASHES FOR TRAMPS

Terrible Punishment For Scoundrels
Who Robbed a Child.

Fifty lashes each, while running naked in the snow, says a Waterbury, Conn., special to the New York American, was the punishment dealt out to tramps here. The men stole the dinner that little Margaret Faircloth was carrying to a poor neighbor in Milton.

Mrs. Carrie Faircloth, poor herself, was given a roast of meat by a more fortunate neighbor. She gave the meat to her daughter, Margaret, and told the girl to take it to the home of Sarah Castle, an aged woman even poorer than herself.

"Tell Sarah Castle," she said to her daughter, "that the Lord has been good to me and she must share with me."

Just as the girl stepped out of the house the tramps seized her, twisted her arm until she screamed with pain, took the meat from her and ran. An alarm was quickly sent out and a dozen husky farmers gave chase. They overtook the tramps, who had stopped to cook the meat, and the punishment followed.

"Not until the tramps fell exhausted in the snow did the angry men desist. Then they left them, with a warning to quit the neighborhood at once.

DIE TOGETHERSTRANGE ACCIDENT HAPPENS AT MILAN, TENN.

Bodies of Brothers Found on Illinois Central by Night Watchman—Six Feet Apart.

Milan, Tenn., Feb. 4.—An appalling accident occurred here last night at about 11 o'clock. Clifford and Herman Rowlett, brothers, were killed. It is supposed instantly, and their stiff bodies were found several hours later by Night Watchman Will Travis on the tracks of the Illinois Central railroad in a broken and battered condition. As there was no eye witness to the accident there is not any definite way of telling how they came to their sudden end. But the report that is verified here by railroad officials is that both of them bought tickets here yesterday evening over the Illinois Central railroad for Jackson, Tenn. They left here at 4:45 p. m., and were returning here last night on train No. 24, of the Illinois Central. They remained on the train until they arrived in the yards here, and the train was nearing the depot when they suddenly got up from their seats in the train and went to the platform of the car and that was the last seen of them alive.

The supposition is that as their home was located but a few hundred feet from where they were found, they thought they would get off the train while it was running and get home quicker. At the time there was a freight train standing on the opposite track, and it is thought in their drunk stupor they leaped from the passenger train to have their brains dashed out when they hit the standing freight train.

BAN ON "SALOME" IS REMOVED.

Pope's Action Crows House to Hear Strauss Opera at Naples.

Naples, Feb. 4.—The first presentation here last night of Richard Strauss' opera, "Salome," was the occasion of much excitement. The clergy, which denounced the libretto as immoral and its author, Oscar Wilde, as a heretic, urged women of the Roman Catholic faith not to attend the performance, and it was decided by the management not to produce the opera. At the last moment, however, the announcement was made that the vatican had decided to remove its prohibition and the Theater, San Carlo therefore was crowded to overflowing.

THE TRUTH ABOUT KIDNEY TROUBLE.

(Backache.) Backache as a cause of kidney trouble is outrageously abused, for there is not one case in five of backache that is an evidence of inflammation in the kidneys. The kidneys are not sensitive and seldom reflect pain.

Backache is commonly an evidence of lumbago, or shows a neuralgic or rheumatic tendency in the muscles of the back. In those cases in which it does proceed from the kidneys it reflects an acute inflammation that usually yields very quickly and definitely to Fulton's Renal Compound.

But, as above, where backache is the only reason one has for suspecting the kidneys, it will in most cases be found more closely related to the muscular system than to the kidneys.

Kidney disease, first or last, is inflammation of the kidneys and there has been nothing on druggists' shelves for inflammation in the kidneys. The late John J. Fulton was the first man in the world to reach and reduce inflammation in kidney tissues, and his Renal Compound is the first real specific for kidney disease.

BREED OF MENMORE IMPORTANT THAN BREED OF HORSES, SAYS HUGHES.

Race Track Gambling, Not Racing, Condemned By the Governor of New York.

New York, Feb. 4.—Governor Charles E. Hughes made a trenchant plea for the abolition of race track gambling in a speech delivered at the Majestic theater in Brooklyn at a mass meeting of the "citizens' anti-race track gambling campaign."

The governor declared that the question of race track gambling was not a matter for the churches or for any particular sect of social reformers, but whether the constitution of the state of New York shall be enforced. He said that much had been heard about improving the breed of horses, which he was in favor of, but that he was also in favor of improving the breed of men.

Joseph H. Choate presided over the meeting, which was largely attended by representative citizens. A resolution strongly supporting Governor Hughes' position, and requesting the legislative committees to report out three bills already drawn to end race track gambling was passed.

The governor was given an ovation when he commenced his speech. He said:

"I do not sympathize very much with schemes of moral regeneration through legislation. We can accomplish a great deal by wise laws, but the impetus to moral movements must, as a rule, be given by the voluntary work of citizens, who, with the force of conviction, press their views upon the people, awaken the consciences of the people and secure that public sentiment, according to which alone any true moral reform can be accomplished.

Gambling Microbe Bad.
"Now, there is a great deal that might be said with regard to the demoralization incident to race-track gambling. What we want to encourage in this country is the disposition to work, to give an equivalent for every honest effort, and the curse is the constant desire to get something for nothing; and with man or boy, if that microbe gets into the system, there is going to be a bad case of moral disorder.

Betting is Un-American.
"Now, it is American to want to work, to make the most of yourself, and a boy who learns to follow the racing sheets, and the man who plays the races in the hope that he will get a dollar which he has not earned, or $10 which he has no right to take, that young man has lost the American sentiment, he has lost really what is the most important part of his birth-right.

Not Opposed to Racing.
"Now, my friends, we have heard a great deal about improving the breed of horses. I am for that—the breed of horses and all other live stock. I am thoroughly in favor of doing all we can to improve the breed of men. I do not believe that the breed of horses will suffer from the other policy.

"I do not believe any reasonable amount of enjoyment will be lost. I have heard it said by those who ought to know that racing will not be seriously jeopardized. I am not against racing. I am against race-track gambling. If the one depends upon the other, I am sorry for that—I regret that—but that is no reason why we should have our constitution unrecognized and this widespread demoralization which could be so easily prevented."

BEVERIDGE BILLWILL RECEIVE SUPPORT OF NATIONAL MANUFACTURERS.

Want Commission Appointed to Take Question Out of Politics and They Move on Washington.

Washington, Feb. 4.—Mighty commercial interests, representative of all sections of the country, will move upon Washington this week, to make known to the rulers of legislation the earnestness that underlies the national demand for tariff revision. Effort is to be concentrated in behalf of the Beveridge tariff commission bill, the effect of which would be to take the tariff issue out of politics and pave the way for revision on a purely business basis. Many influential business men supporters of Republican policies, are possessed of the honest conviction that unless a step be taken along the lines provided in the measure introduced by the senator from Indiana, the Republican party may be put in an unpleasant position in the coming national campaign.

It is to urge a recognition of the true situation upon those responsible for the attitude the country may assume with reference to this question. If it be forced to the front as an issue, because of failure to demonstrate practically a willingness to have the tariff revised in 1909, that representatives of the commercial bodies are to gather here. There will be a meeting of all the interests represented to outline a program of action, which will embrace a conference with members of congress and an interview with President Roosevelt on Wednesday.

Several vital reasons why the immediate establishment of a tariff commission should be provided for and why business interests that want tariff revision at all should unite to force the passage of the Beveridge bill have just been set forth by the tariff committee of the National Association of Manufacturers.

Daily Thought.

Where the wage determines the work, the work is never worth it.

We are progressing when we can talk about taking the tariff out of politics. It is not a question of free trade or protective tariff; it is a question of schedules, and you can't vote on them at a popular election.

The giver threatens to take back Lexington's fine Carnegie library, because the city is not living up to its contract of maintenance. Perhaps, Representative Blair has heard of the Carnegie meddle.

Two men violated the "pistol totting" law at Mayfield, and one of them lies mortally stricken.

There is no questioning the soundness of the United States supreme court's doctrine that labor unions are liable for damages in case of boycott. It's a plain case of conspiracy to injure a man's business, and whether or not it is done in furtherance of a cause that in itself is just, makes not the slightest difference.

HARRY AT MATTEAWAN.

Quite remarkable has been the experience of Harry K. Thaw, who, sane and rational, finds himself confined in a mad house. He is hopeful and his mother satisfied, because the asylum is located in this world. Mr. William Traver Jerome's vigorous prosecution of that case will save so many lives from extinction by violence, that he is entitled to a life saving medal. In the first trial the family conducted the defense. It was to be perfectly conventional, free from the scandal of Harry's early career, and his mother was to be spared the humiliation of a lunacy inquest. The only thing that saved Harry from the electric chair was the abiding truth that Stanford White got his desert, a truth that baffled the skill of the prosecution. The result was chastening. The lawyers conducted the last defense and Harry went to Matteawan and is glad to get there. He will be released in due time; but who is there to say the experience has not been beneficial to the prisoner? He spent a whole year sober. Maybe it was the first year in a long series of them. He must be satisfied with notoriety. We are. We look forward with pleasure to another extended European tour for the Thaws in the near future.

THE KING IS DEAD; LONG LIVE THE KING!

A king, the pawn of statesmen. One of them lies cold and immobile and royal garbed in Lisbon, a forfeit, like his carved prototype of the chess board. Another is on the board to be moved about as the game progresses, a coronated, dehumanized being; sentiment, yet compelled to sacrifice every natural impulse to the demands of state; the object of abstract adoration, a royal prisoner, the creature of the selfish courtiers that stand between him and love and life and liberty. Like the sacred animals of ancient Egypt, that were made to stand in one position in the temples until their joints stiffened, the monarch is held in the mould of formality until—what? Would human longings ever cease to torture his fettered joints? Or can they stop these royal creatures in excesses and selfish passions until brute appetite supplants all finer feelings?

Witness the scene in Portugal. There was a king last Saturday, who is a corpse today. A bullet killed him even as it would have killed a common man. Beside him lies the heir apparent to the throne. Between the two sits the queen mother, inconsolable, revelling in a very ecstasy of grief. Poor soul. She has done her duty by her country. She reared two boys, sufficient to protect the dynasty, and that was all required of her. In her grief, she has what she may never have claimed before. Maybe from the time she ascended the throne until the tragedy she never had her husband and son all for herself. Snuggling the cold clay of her dead, the discarded queen is just a woman, claiming kinship to the whole world, pitiful, abject, helpless.

Who would be a king and sit upon a throne?
Carlos, the gross, the monstrous eater, dispatches tell us, was pleased with large additions to his privy purse, made by the designing Franco, and so let the premier work his own will. Franco's will worked death to Carlos and Carlos' son. But what of that? Isn't there another son? Franco remains the power behind the throne, while a new cabinet of manikins perform around it.

There was no revolution, merely dissatisfaction with the policy of the administration. The party out of power, indicted anarchists, and they killed a king to register their displeasure. Could anything be more simple and direct and harmless? If they had killed Franco, then Portugal might have trembled; for Franco is resourceful and strong and masterful. They say that Manuel will reign wisely. Sure, an Orang-outang could do that, with Franco, and probably be less susceptible to additions to its privy purse.

JEFFERSON DAVIS MEMORIAL FARM TO BE MAINTAINED

Confederate veterans of the James Walbert camp probably will have an opportunity to help support the Jefferson Davis memorial farm on a working basis as a model farm. All of the southern societies will be written to at once, and Col. Bennett H. Young has been appointed to correspond with Gen. S. D. Lee, of Mississippi, and ask him to aid through the Confederate veteran organizations, of which he is the commander, to aid in raising the funds.

A resolution was passed by the committee unanimously asking the legislature to appropriate $2,500 for the purpose of suitably marking the birthplace of the president of the Confederacy, as was done in the case of Abraham Lincoln. All of the southern societies will be asked to contribute, and Gen. S. B. Buckner, president of the association, said he thought that the funds would be in hand by the time of the coming reunion in Birmingham. The executive committee of the Memorial association, gave out that the farm will be supported partially by one of the big eastern universities.

BOY FAINTS AFTER HE FALLS DOWN IN THE ICE.

Meibor, Feb. 4.—(Special)—While skating on the ice yesterday afternoon Dewey Ward, the 7-year-old son of Mrs. William Ward, slipped and his head struck the ice with force. The lad went home, but feeling well returned to school, where, in a short time, he fell in a faint. He was carried home, and Dr. E. E. Davis called, but the boy soon revived. Today he is resting well and able to be about his house. Before a thorough examination was made it was feared his skull was fractured, but there will be no danger unless complications set in.

BANQUET IS GIVEN

At Punta Arenas By Chilean Officials to Officers of Fleet.

Punta Arenas, Strait of Magellan, Feb. 4.—A banquet was given yesterday on board the Chilean cruiser Chacabuco to the admirals, captains and other high officers of the American fleet.

Covers were laid for about fifty guests in the wardroom, which was handsomely decorated. Admiral Simpson offered a toast to the United States and its navy, expressing the pleasure which the Chilean government had in welcoming the Americans. Admiral Thomas responded with a similar expression of good will.

WARS ARE PROLONGED.

German Legislator Prefers Militia to Standing Army.

Berlin, Feb. 4.—A notable address was made by Herr Bebel, Socialist leader, in favor of national militia instead of a standing army, during the course of a debate in the Reichstag on military appropriations today.

He pointed out that professional troops generally prolonged wars and gave a number of instances of this in European history. He said that much could be learned from the achievements of the militia force during the American Civil war, and asserted also that the Swiss militia system has given most excellent results.

The Spoilers.

By REX E. BEACH.

Copyright, 1906, by Rex E. Beach.

He paid no attention to Cherry as he took his seat. He had eyes for nothing but the "layout." She clinched her hands and prayed for his ruin.

"What's your limit, Kid?" he inquired.

"One hundred and two," the Kid answered, which in the vernacular means that any sum up to $200 may be laid on one card save only on the last turn, when the amount is lessened by half.

Without more ado they commenced. The Kid handled his cards smoothly, surely, paying and taking bets with machine-like calm. The onlookers ceased talking and prepared to watch for now came the crucial test of the evening. Faro is to other games as war is to jackstraws.

For a time Glenister won steadily till there came a moment when many stacks of chips lay on the table. Cherry saw the Kid "flush" to the case keeper, and the next moment he had "flushed two." The dealer lost. It was his first substantial gain, and the play, ere paid up attention. At the end of half an hour the winnings were slightly in favor of the "house." Then Glenister said: "This is too slow. I want action."

"All right," smiled the proprietor. "We'll double the limit."

Thus it became possible to wager $400 on a card, and the Kid began really to play. Glenister now lost steadily, not in large amounts, but with tantalizing regularity. Cherry had never seen cards played like this. The gambler was a revelation to her. His work was wonderful. His luck seemed to find the crowd's eagerness, while to add to its impatience, the cases came wrong twice in succession, so that those who would have bet heavily upon the last turn had their money given back.

Cherry saw the confusion of the "house driver" even quicker than did Bronco. Toby was growing rattled. The dealer's work was too fast for him, and yet he could offer no signal of distress for fear of annihilation at the hands of those crowded close to his shoulder. In the same way the owner of the game could make no objection to his helper's incompetence for fear that some bystander would volunteer to fill the man's part. There were many present capable of the trick. He could only glare balefully across the table at his unfortunate confederate.

They had not gone far on the next game before Cherry's quick eye detected a sign which the man misinterpreted. She addressed him quietly.

"You'd better brush up your plumes," in spite of his and the Bronco Kid smiled. Humor in him was strangely withered and distorted, yet here was a thrust he would always remember and recount with glee in years to come.

He feared there were other faro dealers present who might understand the hint, but there was none save Mexico Mullins, whose face was a study—mirth seemed to be struggling him. A moment later the girl spoke to the case keeper again.

"Let me take your place; your reins are unbuckled."

Toby glanced inquiringly at the Kid, who caught Cherry's reassuring look and nodded, so he arose and the girl slid into the vacant chair. This woman would make no errors, the dealer knew that; her keen wits were sharpened by hate—it showed in her face. If Glenister escaped destruction to night it would be because human means could not accomplish his downfall.

In the mind of the new case keeper there was but one thought—Roy must be broken. Humiliation, disgrace, ruin, ridicule were to be his. If he should be downed, discredited and discouraged.

NOTHING BETTER THAN

ed, then perhaps he would turn to her as he had in the bygone days. He was slipping away from her—this was her last chance. She began her duties easily, and her alertness stimulated Bronco till his senses, too, grew sharper, his observation more acute and lightning-like. Glenister swore beneath his breath that the cards were bewitched. He was like a drunken man, now as truly intoxicated as though the fumes of wine had befogged his brain. He swayed in his seat, the veins of his neck thickened and throbbled, his features were congested. After awhile he spoke.

"I want a bigger limit. Is this some boy's game? Throw her open."

The gambler shot a triumphant glance at the girl and requested. "All right, the limit is the blue sky. Pile your chips to the roof pole." He began to shuffle.

Within the crowded circle the air was hot and fetid with the breath of men. The sweat trickled down Glenister's brown skin, dripping from his jaw unnoticed. He arose and ripped off his coat, while those standing behind shifted and scuffed their feet impatiently. Besides Roy, there were but three men playing. They were the ones who had won heaviest at first. Now that luck was against them they were loath to quit.

Cherry was annoyed by stertorous breathing at her shoulder, and glanced back to find the little man who had been so excited earlier in the evening. His mouth was agape, his eyes wide, the muscles about his lips twitching. He had lost back, long since, the hundreds he had won and more besides. She searched the figures walling her about and saw no women. They had been crowded out long since. It seemed as though the table formed the bottom of a sloping pit of human faces—eager, tense, staring. It was well she was here, she thought, else this task might fail. She would help to blast Glenister, desolate him, humiliate him. Ah, but wouldn't she!

Roy bet $100 on the "popular" card. On the third turn he lost. He bet $200 next and lost. He set out a stack of $400 and lost for the third time. Fortune had turned her face. He ground his teeth and doubled until the stakes grew enormous, while the dealer dealt monotonously. The spots flashed and disappeared, taking with them wager after wager. Glenister became conscious of a raging, red fury which he had hard shift to master. It was not his money—what if he did lose? He would stay until he won. He would win. This luck would not, could not, last—and yet with diabolic persistence he continued to choose the losing cards. The other men fared better till he yielded to their judgment, when the dealer took their money also.

Strange to say, the fickle goddess had really shifted her banner at last, and the Bronco Kid was dealing straight faro now. He was too good a player to force a winning hand, and Glenister's ill fortune became as phenomenal as his winning had been. The girl who figured in this drama was keyed to the highest tension, her eyes now on her counters, now searching the profile of her victim. Glenister continued to lose and lose and lose, while the girl glided over his swift coming ruin. When at long intervals he won a bet, she shrank and shivered for fear he might escape. If only he would risk it all—everything he had. He would have to come to her then!

The end was closer than she realized. The throng hung breathless upon each move of the players, while there was no sound but the noise of shifting chips and the distant jangle of the orchestra. The lookout sat far forward upon his perch, his hands upon his knees, his eyes fixed to the board, a dead cigar clamped between his teeth. Craved upon his platform were miners tense and motionless as statues. When a man spoke or coughed, a score of eyes stared at him accusingly; then dropped to the table again.

Glenister took from his clothes a bundle of banknotes so thick that it required his two hands to compass it. Onlookers saw that the bills were mainly yellow. No one spoke while he counted them rapidly, glanced at the dealer, who nodded, then slid them forward till they rested on the king. He placed a "copper" on the pile. A great sigh of indrawn breaths swept through the crowd. The north had never known a bet like this—it meant a fortune. Here was a tale for one's grandchildren—that a man should win opulence in an evening, then lose it in one deal. This final bet represented more than many of them had ever seen at one time before. Its fate lay on a single card.

Cherry Malotte's fingers were like ice and shook till the buttons of her case keeper rattled, her heart raced till she could not breathe, while something rose up and choked her. If Glenister won this bet, he would quit. She felt it. If he lost, all what could the Kid there feel, the man who was playing for a paltry vengeance, compared to her whose hope of happiness, of love, of life hinged on this wager?

Evidently the Bronco Kid knew what card lay next below, for he offered her no sign, and as Glenister leaned back he slowly and firmly pushed the top card out of the box. Although this was the biggest turn of his life, he betrayed no tremor. His gesture displayed the nine of diamonds, and the crowd breathed heavily. The king had not won. Would it lose? Every gaze was welded to the tiny nickleboxed box. If the face card lay next beneath the nine spot, the heaviest wager in Alaska would have been lost; if it still remained hidden on the next turn, the money would be safe for a moment.

Slowly the white hand of the dealer moved back. His middle finger touched the nine of diamonds. It slid smoothly out of the box, and there in its place frowned the king of clubs. At last the silence was broken.

Mon spoke; some laughed, but in their laughter was no mirth. It was more like the sound of choking. They stamped their feet to relieve the grip of strained muscles. The dealer reached forth and slid the stack of bills into the drawer at his waist without counting. The case keeper passed a shaking hand over her face, and when it came away she saw blood on her fingers where she had sunk her teeth into her lower lip. Glenister did not rise. He sat, heavy browed and sullen, his jaw thrust forward, his hair low upon his forehead, his eyes bloodshot and dead.

"I'll sit the hand out if you'll let me bet the finger," said he.

"Certainly," replied the dealer. When a man requests this privilege, it means that he will call the amount of his wager without producing the visible stakes, and the dealer may accept or refuse according to his judgment of the bettor's responsibility. It is safe, for no man shirks a gambling debt in the north, and thousands may go with a nod of the head though never a cent be on the board.

There were still a few cards in the box, and the dealer turned them, paying the three men who played. Glenister took no part, but sat bulked over his end of the table, glowering from beneath his shock of hair.

quarter of Lisbon, but no other telegram filtered through to amplify this incident or tell whether violence and disorders have broken out in the capital.

Investigations of the police show that the murders were carefully planned. On Saturday the assassins met secretly in a back room of a cafe and there laid out every step of the plot, which they were enabled to do as all details relating to the homecoming of the king had been made public. To each was assigned a post in the work of shooting down the members of the royal family but lots were drawn for the selection of each particular victim. Those who drew Queen Amelia and Prince Manuel failed to carry out their bloody task.

The chamber in the palace where repose the bodies of King Carlos and the crown prince has been draped in mourning and arranged to resemble a chapel. The biers are surrounded by lighted candles and Queen Amelia, widow of the king, and the Dowager Queen Maria Pia, his mother, watch continually at the side of their dead.

The body of the king is clad in a uniform of a captain of the Second Lancers. Several masses for the repose of the souls of the departed already have been said in the mortuary chamber. The funeral will be held February 8 and the bodies will lie in state, probably beginning tomorrow. It is expected that the funerals will be attended by the Prince of Wales, Prince Charles of Bourbon, Duke of Acosta, cousin of King Victor Emmanuel, the special French embassy and a detachment of foreign regiments of which the late king was an honorary colonel.

The condition of Queen Amelia, contrary to rumors, is relatively good. The Duke of Porto, brother of the late king, has established his residence at the palace, where he will remain for a time. The countess of Paris, Queen Amelia's mother, is on her way here.

EMBEZZLEMENT IS CHARGE AGAINST YOUNG COLLECTOR

Charged with embezzlement H. E. Hubbard, a collector for the Rhodes-Burford Furniture company, was arrested last night and lodged in jail. The books of the collector are being checked over, but until the investigation is complete it will not be possible to state how much it is alleged he secured from the firm. Hubbard says he is not guilty of the embezzlement. He admits a few discrepancies in his books, but says everything will be arranged all right.

Hubbard is a young man of excellent appearance, neatly dressed, and has been an active collector. It is charged that Hubbard collected from debtors of the firm, and in making settlements, reported that he was unable to get money from certain creditors. On rumors that came to the manager, a quiet investigation was started, and yesterday afternoon while making a settlement, Patrolman Johnson placed Hubbard under arrest. The firm was satisfied it had lost enough to justify the warrant.

Hubbard resided formerly near Carbondale, and it is said his grandfather possesses wealth. Hubbard has been in the city for some time, and several weeks ago Dr. Hubbard, his father, came to the city and established an office on South Fourth street above the sheriff's office.

His trial in police court this morning was continued until Thursday morning. At police headquarters last night Hubbard told his father that $40 would settle the affair, but it has not been settled yet.

FINE HOGS DYING

Farmers from near Gilbertsville, about 14 miles from Paducah on the Illinois Central railroad, report that there is an epidemic among the hogs. Several farmers have left their stock in fine condition at night and the next morning, on a visit to the pen found that every hog was dead. The disease is not known, but it is sudden in its work, and farmers around the city are wary lest it spread to Paducah. Dr. Ed P. Farley, meat and milk inspector, made a careful investigation this morning on the market, but could not find a single piece of meat that came from near Gilbertsville. According to the farmers, the malady is something they have never had to contend with before, but from the symptoms reported, the veterinarians, they could not diagnose the disease.

WHO GETS REWARD OF $1,000 IS QUESTION OF DAY

Just who is entitled to the $1,000 reward offered for the capture of James Richardson, alias A. N. Groff, alias "Fatty," charged with the murder of Sheriff Joseph Price, at Fresno, Cal., is something of a problem, but anyhow Richardson is in jail on the charge. He was captured in this city early last evening by Aud Stone, a real estate man of Marion, Ill., but was arrested and taken to the station by Patrolmen Cross and Johnson.

It is said that Richardson killed Sheriff Price March 13, 1907, and has been a fugitive of justice since. He worked in Marion several months and when he learned the people knew there was a reward out for him he left. He was traced to Metropolis and had been living with two women, but had left. From the women Stone learned that Richardson was in Paducah. Yesterday afternoon he met Patrolmen Johnson and Cross and informed them of the crime and the fugitive of justice. STEAMBOATMEN FIGHT

Captain W. J. Carroll, master of the steamer Vincennes, was arrested this afternoon by Patrolman Harley on the charge of breach of peace. Carroll's head was bloody and badly bruised. The men have worked together for a number of years, and it is said that the difficulty arose over some trivial matter. The trial will be held tomorrow morning.

Kentucky Coal Production 1906.

Washington, Feb. 1.—The government releases for publication a most interesting report on the coal production of Kentucky. The report states that the total production of coal for that state in 1906 was 9,653,647 short tons, of a spot value of $3,809,938. Continuing, the report says:

"With the close of 1906 Kentucky, like Iowa, completed a record of ten years of unbroken increase in her production of coal and attained the maximum output in the history of the state. Compared with that of 1905 last year's production showed an increase of 1,221,124 short tons, or 14.5 per cent, with a gain in value of $1,424,706, or 17 per cent. It showed an increase of over 76 per cent, as compared with the production of 1901, five years earlier, and was nearly three times the production of 1896, ten years earlier.

"A total of 15,272 men was employed in the coal mines of Kentucky, working an average of 212 days each against 14,685 men working an average of 200 days in 1905.

Labor in Mines.

"The statistics of the labor employed in the coal mines of Kentucky, taken with the statistics of production, show that there were 632.1 tons of coal produced in 1906 for each man employed as against 574.2 tons in 1905, 2.87 in 1904 and 2.7 in 1903 and 532.2 tons in 1902. The average tonnage per man per day was 2.98 in 1906, 2.87 in 1905, and 2.7 in 1904. In 1903 the average daily production per man was 2.54 and in 1902 it was 2.35. These figures indicate a steady improvement in the productive capacity per employe, due in part, at least, to the growth in the use of undercutting machines. Kentucky being one of the most progressive states in this regard. In 1903 there were 338 mining machines in use; in 1904 there were 433; in 1905, 527, and in 1906, 600. The machine-mined coal produced in these four years has been in 1903, 2,843,805 tons; in 1904, 3,595,513 tons; in 1905, 4,409,054 tons, and in 1906, 5,175,950 tons. A little over 50 per cent of the total product in 1905 and 53.62 in 1906 was machine-mined.

"A large proportion—over two-thirds—of the mines in Kentucky are operated on the 'open-shop' or non-union basis, and in consequence the eight-hour day is not so generally observed as in some of the other coal mining states. In 1906, out of a total of 15,272 men, 4,171, or about 27 per cent, worked eight hours; 4,002, or 26 per cent, worked nine hours, and 5,941, or 39 per cent, worked ten hours. Seven mines employing 312 men reported nine and one-half hours as the working day, and a few operators did not report the hours per day.

"The St. Bernard Mining company of Burlington, is the only company which reported having installed a washing plant for improving the quality of its product. This company reported having washed 92,612 short tons of coal, which yielded 82,322 tons of washed product and 10,290 tons of refuse.

"The accident statistics, as reported by Mr. C. J. Norwood, chief mine inspector of Kentucky, show that in 1906 there were forty men killed and 139 men injured in the coal mines of the state. The number of wives made widows and of children left fatherless was not reported. Of the total number of deaths two were due to explosions of dust, eighteen were due to falls of roofs in rooms, entries or gangways, and one to explosion of powder.

Coal Area.

"Continuing, the report estimates the total area underlain by coal in the eastern counties of Kentucky to be 11,180 square miles, and the coal-bearing areas in the western part of the state at 5,800 square miles. It goes on as follows:

"Up to the close of 1906 the western district, however, produced considerably more than half the total output of the state but the recent developments in Pike, Johnson and other counties of the eastern portion of Kentucky lead to the impression that the production in the eastern district will soon exceed that of the western.

Western District.

"The workable coal of the western district of Kentucky is confined almost entirely to two beds, designated as Nos. 9 and 11 by the geological survey of Kentucky. Of these, No. 9 is the more persistent and furnishes probably 75 per cent or more of the total production of the western counties of the state. It underlies the whole or portions of eight counties, including all of the field except its eastern portion and the southern or southwestern edge and a few other places, where it has been cut out by irregularities in the structure. The bed has an average thickness of about five feet, and only rarely thickens out to more than five or six inches. It lies, as a rule, about 200 feet below the surface, and the mining is done by shaft. Seam No. 11 lies from 40 to 100 feet above No. 9, and is the next important bed in western Kentucky. It is much more irregular than No. 9, but usually where worked has a thickness of six feet or over. Another seam lying about 25 feet above No. 11 is known as No. 12. It is mined in Webster, Hopkins, McLean and Muhlenberg counties. In the central portion of this field this bed attains a thickness of from three to six feet. Other seams beside these three are mined in the district, notably what is supposed to be No. 6 and also o. 5, near Dekoven, in Union county.

"So far as the records of early coal production in the United States are to be accepted, Kentucky was the third state to enter the list of regular coal producers. According to one of the early reports of the Kentucky geological survey (published in 1838) the first coal produced in the state was mined in 1827 on 'the right side of the (Cumberland) river below the mouth of Laurel.'

COURT DECIDED

IN HIS FAVOR

Cooper Fought to Retain Formula Which Has Made a Fortune.

L. T. Cooper, the man who believes that 90 per cent. of all ill health of this generation is caused by stomach trouble, is fast winning a national faith in his theory. His claim is now admitted by a surprising number of people throughout the country, and he is gaining new adherents every day.

While speaking of his success in a recent interview, Mr. Cooper said: "I believed ten years ago that any one who could produce a formula that would thoroughly regulate the stomach would have a fortune. When I got hold of this formula I knew within six months that I was right, and that my fortune was made. I called the medicine Cooper's New Discovery, although I did not get up the formula. I have owned it, however, for over three years. I have had one lawsuit over it, which I won in the courts. When it was settled The Cooper Medicine Company became the only firm in the world that can prepare the medicine. The preparation has sold like wildfire wherever introduced. As I have said before, it is successful simply because it puts the stomach in perfect shape, then nature does the rest. There are any number of complaints never before associated with stomach trouble that the medicine has alleviated in thousands of cases."

Among statements obtained recently from users of this medicine that is arousing such universal discussion is one from Mrs. Emma Stanley, living in Chicago, at 713 Washington Boulevard, who said: "Perhaps I had the most complicated case that Mr. Cooper had to deal with. I was troubled for years with my stomach. I consulted with doctors and took many patent medicine preparations without result. My stomach was in such a wretched shape that I could not enjoy a meal that I ate."

"I was very nervous, and could hardly sleep; I had a roaring in my ears and dancing spots before my eyes. I felt very bad and weak. Then there was a very sore spot at the pit of my stomach that nearly set me wild."

"I heard about the Cooper medicine and decided to try it. I used four bottles, and the improvement in my case has been really wonderful. My nerves have been quieted, and I am so much improved that I feel like a new woman."

"I cannot say too much for these wonderful remedies, for they have made me well."

We sell the Cooper medicines and consider them well worth a trial by any one afflicted with chronic stomach trouble and its attendant diseases.—W. B. McPherson.

S.S.S. FORT YEARS SUCCESSFUL SERVICE

When a medicine has stood the test for a period of more than two generations and is then more popular than ever, the can be no doubt of its merit. This is the record of S. S. S. Its period of existence is marked by a long line of cures of blood and skin diseases of every character, and its value in the treatment of such troubles has become so well known that it is today the most extensively used blood medicine on the market. For Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Sores and Ulcers, Skin Diseases and all other troubles due to an impure or poisoned condition of the blood, S. S. S. has no equal. It counteracts and drives out the poisons, humors and germs, cleanses the system of all unhealthy matter, cures the diseased permanently and restores strong, robust health. Where the blood is weak or anemic, and unable to furnish the body with the nourishment and strength it needs, S. S. S. supplies it with the healthful properties and acts splendidly in toning up and reinvigorating the system. It goes down to the very bottom of all blood disorders, and in this way reaches inherited taints on which the ordinary blood medicines have no effect. Not only is S. S. S. certain in its results, but it is at the same time an absolutely safe remedy. It is made entirely of roots, herbs and barks of known healing and purgative value. It does not contain the slightest trace of mineral in any form to damage the delicate parts of the system, and may be used by children with the same good results and perfect safety as by older people. It is not an experiment to use S. S. S.; it is a remedy with a record and one that has proven its worth by its forty years of successful service. If you are in need of a blood purifier for any cause begin the use of S. S. S., write our physicians and they will send you a book concerning your trouble, and will give without charge any special medical advice that is required.

NEW CHURCH LAW.

The Catholic church's new laws touching the betrothal and marriage are to be promulgated Easter Sunday in every Catholic diocese in the world and they go into effect at noon on that day.

Under these laws any marriage contracted between Catholics will be absolutely void in the eyes of the church unless it is celebrated in the presence of a qualified priest and two witnesses. At present the marriage of a Catholic pair by a non-Catholic clergyman or by a civil magistrate is valid although it is considered illicit, and the persons contracting it render themselves liable to excommunication.

Protestants married by a minister will be regarded lawfully married under the new law.

"In brief," said a Catholic clergyman, "marriage between Catholics in Protestant churches or registry offices will be for Catholics not only sinful, but invalid, and the persons who contract them will have only gone through an empty ceremony and will be no more husband and wife than they were before. This law binds all Catholics, even though they are apostate or excommunicated."

"But it does not affect those who are not and never have been Catholics. Consequently, Protestants and non-Catholics are outside of the scope of the law, in the eyes of the church, and such marriages are recognized by the Catholic church, all else permitting it, as real and true marriages."

The principles contained in the new law have long been recognized in the church, it is explained, and their recent promulgation is said to be due to the increase of marriages before civil magistrates in this country and abroad.

JOHN D'S FATHER

OLD MAN LEVINGSTON DIES AND WIFE IS MYSTIFIED.

Wonderful Resemblance of Freeport
Quack to Father of Rockefeller Boys.

Freeport, Ill., Feb. 4.—The news of the publication in the New York World of an eight column article declaring that the body of Dr. William Avery Rockefeller, father of John D. Rockefeller, lies in an unmarked grave in Oakland cemetery caused little excitement here. Freeport people did enough talking in July, 1905, when it was announced that Dr. William Levingston was the father of the oil king.

For thirty-six years Dr. Levingston had lived in Freeport as a traveling physician and vender of medicines which had been the business of the elder Rockefeller. The suspicion of his dual life was aroused by the publication of a photograph of William A. Rockefeller in McClure's Magazine of July, 1905. Its remarkable resemblance to Levingston was commented upon by residents, who declared it was an actual portrait of their fellow citizen. O. F. Potter wrote to McClure's and asked if some mistake had not been made, but the editor replied that there was no doubt as to its being a likeness of the oil king's father.

There was no opportunity to question Levingston himself, as he was more than 90 years of age, feeble both in mind and body, entirely deaf and nearly blind. Even his wife could not communicate with him and she herself wavered in her belief as to his being Rockefeller or Levingston.

When interviewed she said: "I don't know what to think. I know no more about it than you." This has been her attitude ever since, as her husband died May 11, 1906, without divulging the secret he is said to have possessed.

GIRL'S SCREAMS BRING RESCUE.
Assailant Believed to Have Frightened
Many Women.

Janesville, Wis., Feb. 4.—Piercing screams at 1 o'clock this morning from a woman calling out "Oh God, save me!" attracted the attention of two men three blocks away, who were soon on the scene where they were confronted by a man who had both knees on a woman's chest and his right hand on her mouth, which was bleeding freely. The two men soon had the man in the police station, where he proved to be William Joyce, the 21-year-old son of Hugh Joyce, a shoe dealer. The woman was 16-year-old Grace Lempey, who said that Joyce had asked to escort her from a dance. The police are trying to connect Joyce with the frightening of many other women who have been approached here recently, although they do not connect him with the murder of Madeline Clayton or Miss Malone.

Alarm Clock Feeds Horses.

Alton, Ill., Feb. 4.—When George Miller, a local coal dealer, gets up in the morning his horses have been fed and are ready to work, though not by the hands of man. It is all done by a device of his own invention, and is the talk of the town among men who like to take forty more winks these cold mornings.

An alarm clock feeds Miller's horses. He has connected the timepiece with electric wires in such a manner that at stated hours hay, corn or oats are poured into the troughs and a supply of water is turned on to quench the thirst of the animals.

LOVE AND DUTY

WEST KENTUCKY SOLDIER IN GUARD HOUSE AS DESERTER.

Pretty Edna Allen's Blue Eyes Lured
Him Away From Stars and Stripes.

New York, Feb. 4.—Love and patriotism failed to blend harmoniously, says the New York World, in the mainly bosom of young Leslie Thompson, late of the western part of the Blue Grass state, who about a year ago joined Uncle Sam's fighting forces and is now locked up in the guard house at Fort Totten on a charge of desertion. Two causes led to the young soldier's downfall, although he would probably declare that his present predicament is due to the covetousness of a false friend. Shortly after being sent to Willet's Point to learn soldiering Thompson met pretty Edna Allen, 18, of No. 13 Bradford avenue, Flushing. She had liked his soldier ways and southern chivalry. It was her blue eyes and pouting lips that lured him from his country's call, so that when it finally came to a choice between love and duty Thompson was not long in deciding the question. He simply took Miss Allen before a clergyman and she came away as Mrs. Thompson.

It was then that he found soldiering irksome. He pined for freedom, and one night he took French leave. He stayed in crowded New York and obtained a job as a carpenter and was making a good living for himself and pretty bride when an acquaintance of former years happened along.

The friend was not long in learning the true situation. Then he happened to remember that there is a standing reward of $50 for the apprehension of a deserter. Work became slack in New York and this acquaintance invited Thompson out to Flushing to do some work for him.

Believing himself safe, Thompson put in an appearance at the designated place in Flushing and was immediately placed under arrest and hustled off to Fort Totten. Word was sent to his wife and she immediately went to Flushing and is now enlisting the influence of Long Islanders in behalf of her husband. She says that she will even go and see President Roosevelt, himself. Having seen Thompson safely in custody the false friend smiled complacently and went off to collect the reward.

Killed By Cars at Crossing.

RIVER NEWS

The stage is 13.5, a rise of 1.1. All Ohio river towboats are tied up on account of the ice.

The Dick Fowler and the George Cowling are making their regular trips as best they can, hindered by the ice.

The Butterff is due tomorrow morning from Clarksville.

The Stacker Lee is in from Cincinnati.

The Clyde arrived out of the Tennessee.

The I. N. Hook went to Joppa with half her tow. She left the other half here for fear of an accident among the ice floes. The Royal was taken on the dry docks for general repairs.

The Joe Fowler was unable to make her trip back to Evansville on account of the ice.

The Hopkins will make no trip from Evansville today on account of the ice.

The Pittsburg is still tied up in the Tennessee.

The Charles Turner has been hauled around, so that when the river rises she will be floated.

Official Forecasts.

The Ohio, at Evansville and Mt. Vernon, will continue rising for three and four days respectively, then become stationary. At Paducah, will rise during the next several days.

At Cairo, no material change during the next 24 hours. The Tennessee, from Florence to the mouth, will continue rising for three days.

The Mississippi, from below St. Louis to above Cairo, will continue falling during the next 24 hours.

Note: Chester reports river full of ice this morning; Cape Girardeau, heavy floating ice. Back of Cairo the Mississippi is full of heavy floating ice, moving slowly. Light ice began running in the Ohio river at Cairo Sunday morning.

THREE GIANTS
OF THE HOUSEHad Their Innings Yesterday on Partisan Politics.

Bryan and Roosevelt Designated Graders and Claim for Republican Party Vigorously Disputed.

WIDOWS WILL GET PENSIONS.

Washington, Feb. 4.—Three of the giants of the house of representatives had their innings. Technically the Indian appropriation bill was under discussion, but legislation was relegated to the background while national politics occupied the stage.

Before the political question cropped out, the house with but one dissenting voice, passed the general widows pension bill granting a flat pension of $12 a month to widows of the honorably discharged soldiers of the United States who have heretofore received benefits of the pension law and an increase of $4 a month for those who have under the act of June 27, 1890. The law expressly waives limitation of property holdings. The bill involves an expenditure of more than $12,000,000 annually.

The political debate was opened by Townsend, of Michigan, who, in a prepared speech, claimed for the Republican party credit for all national legislation in the last fifty years of vital interest to the public. In this he was vigorously disputed by Cochran, of New York, who afterwards launched into a discussion of the president's message of a few days ago, his remarks frequently evoking applause on both sides of the chamber.

The president's utterances in that document he declared were such that neither party could ignore, for he had named conditions for which both must contend. He characterized President Roosevelt as the only "crusader" in the Republican party and said that he could not, in view of his statements, with honor again accept the nomination for presidency. Bryan, also was a "crusader," and he believed that with the president's message as his guide, Bryan would become the fore-ordained champion of law and order.

Hepburn also defended the president's message and said that condemnation of it had come only from the great malefactors of the age "and the gentleman from Ohio," meaning Senator Foraker.

While the debate was on almost every seat on the floor and in the galleries was occupied.

Senator Piles, of Washington, today delivered an eloquent appeal in the senate in favor of appropriation by congress of $700,000 for the government exhibit at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition to be held in Seattle next year.

The day was chiefly devoted to consideration of bills on the calendar, several of which were passed.

In the House.

Representative Cary, of Wisconsin, offered a joint resolution authorizing the president to at once appoint a commission to inquire into charges that the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies are maintaining a "community of interests in the restraint of trade and contrary to law" and that during the recent strike of the union telegraphers these companies transmitted telegrams by mail and delivered them under the pretense that they had been transmitted by wire.

A bill to require the enforcement by the secretary of the treasury the income tax law enacted in 1904, was introduced today by Representative Hull, of Iowa. Speaking of the bill, Hull said:

While the Dingley law expressly repeats all other provisions of the Wilson tariff act of 1894, provisions of that act comprising income tax, tax law have been left undisturbed by congress. Every season now rests in the support of some action by congress that will result in securing a review by the United States supreme court of the important constitutional question in this law which were by that court decided adversely to the government. In the face of the uniform line of decisions to the contrary, extending over one hundred years of the nation's history. Furthermore, this decision of the supreme court only declares invalid certain portions of the income tax law, while other provisions were treated as within themselves valid by the court. It is due the country and due the supreme court, in my judgment, that an opportunity so vital to the taxing power of congress, should be given the supreme court.

Tawney, of Minnesota, chairman of the appropriation committee of the house, reopened his fight on the tobacco trust by re-introducing his bill to impose a federal tax on the issuance of all prize coupons accompanying cigars and packages of tobacco in whatever form, also snuff.

Transportation facilities are more inadequate today than at any time in New York's history. The first omnibuses, put in the streets in 1830, came nearer to accommodating the traveling public of those days than the great network of railroads does now, for the demand for transportation continually keeps ahead of the facilities provided.

Portugal is a Country of Illiterates.

Portugal is the most western of the European countries and occupies a substantial part of the Iberian peninsula, which it shares with Spain. It is about 360 miles in length from north to south and averages 100 miles in breadth. Continental Portugal was divided into six natural provinces and is present into seventeen districts. In addition there are the Azores and Madeira, which are regarded as an integral part of the kingdom.

The area of the kingdom, including the Azores and Madeira, is 35,490 square miles. The population is ascertained by the last census in 1900, was 5,423,132. The state religion is Roman Catholic, but all others are tolerated. Education, though nominally compulsory, is in a very backward state.

Wine is the most important product of the kingdom, more than 50 per cent of the exports being this product. "Port" comes from Oporto. The revenue for 1907-08 is estimated at about $76,000,000. The estimated expenditure for the same period is $79,000,000. Imports for 1906 amounted to something over $66,000,000, and the 1906 exports are reported as $33,900,000. The funded public debt in 1906 was almost $1,000,000,000.

The army was reorganized on October 1, 1899. The peace footing is 62,427, which includes 33,420 militia

The war footing is 100,000, but probably 260,000 men could be placed in the field. The navy is reported worth less, consisting of thirty-nine steamers and sixteen sailing vessels. The commercial marine numbered 630 steam and sailing vessels in 1906, of which only seventeen steam and five sailing vessels exceeded 900 gross tonnage. Railways open for traffic in 1906 had 1,504 miles of track and there were 5,301 miles of telegraph wire.

Lisbon, the capital, has a population of 356,000 and Oporto has a population of 172,000.
